TO THE BRAVEST OF
SCHUYLKILL COUNTIANS,
THIS VOLUME IS DEDICATED

---

Herein is contained the names of combatants in the Great World War credited to Schuylkill County, Pennsylvania.

Human fallibility alone is responsible for any name omitted from these records, the greatest care having been exercised in compiling the list. Schuylkill County has a record of which any section of the same proportions in the United States could well take pride.

We are proud of our record in any War, and doubly so of that record of the Great World War, ended when the Armistice was signed on November 11th, 1918.

—The Author.

Appreciation

ITH A DELIGHTFUL ASSOCIATION of many years, aye, generations, I take this opportunity of acknowledging my gratitude to one who has been a preceptor of high ideals, strong in his convictions, fearless in the cause of justice, a bitter foe to intemperance, one ever ready to give advice and counsel to those who seek it.

To him whom I cherish as my greatest ideal—

Mr. Joseph Henry Zerbey

Editor and Proprietor of

“Pottsville Republican” and “Pottsville Morning Paper,”

I extend my heartfelt thanks for aid and encouragement in all my doings, his readiness to condone any fault, quick to overlook any frailty, a tower of strength at all times, and especially so during the stirring period of the Great World War, when his moral and financial backing was predominant, though health was a matter of much concern to all his friends, to him I say, appreciation is but a feeble means of expression.

—E. L. C.

Thrilling Record of Patriotism

SCHUYLKILL COUNTY since the days of the Revolution has built for itself a record of militarism, second to none in the entire United States.

When Washington and his army stood the hardships of Winter, 1777, illy clad and lacking in Army equipment, in the ranks were found soldiers from Schuylkill County, or that part which later became part of this county, and has since lived and prospered as one family, to come to the aid of one another in times of war, and when the cry from Washington's Army was "send us powder," in the western section of the present county, the response was prompt and efficient.

When the United States found it necessary to go to war with Mexico, in 1846, again our county responded nobly, and prominent officers and enlisted men were in the ranks of the invading army.

When the Civil War waged, the records ended with the astounding statement that Schuylkill County, Pennsylvania, out of a population of 91,000 had sent one-seventh of that population into the fields of battle, a total of 13,000, the highest percentage of any like number from a similar population in any section of the United States.

It sent into the Civil War, at the call of President Abraham Lincoln on April 5th, 1861, two companies of militia—Washington Artillerists and National Light Infantry, a total of 250 men, who, after passing through the mob of Baltimore, Md., arrived in Washington, the capital of the United States on April 18th, 1861, and were given the title of "First Defenders." They were called to the colors for three months, but as the Civil War with the South continued, Governor Andrew G. Curtin, of Pennsylvania, issued a call for volunteers to serve for three years, or the war, following the call of President Lincoln for half a million men, and thus it was that this county rolled up such an excellent war record.

The Spanish-American War in 1898 was brought about as the result of the sinking of the United States war vessel, the "Maine," at anchor in Havana harbor, taken there due to the Revolution of the Cuban people against the dominance of Spain, the cruelty of the latter government causing the populace to rise up in arms to declare their independence.

Schuylkill County furnished a large quota of its citizenry out of the National Guard of Pennsylvania who served in Southern camps, awaiting the call to go to Cuba, but the war ended before they were taken to that country.

The next conflict that appeared on the horizon was the Great World War, prior to the entry of our country into the conflict, was the threatened Mexican trouble which is found in the next installment.

BUILDING OF RECORD

In compiling the list of soldiers in the Great World War from Schuylkill County, Pa., many sources of information were drawn upon, principally among them being:

Archives at Harrisburg, Pa.;

Patriotic League of Schuylkill County;

Various Legion Headquarters of Schuylkill County;

Individuals at Pottsville, Saint Clair, Minersville, Port Carbon, Schuylkill Haven, Frackville, Mahanoy City, Shenandoah, Girardville, Gilberton, etc.;

Private Diaries.

It was a pleasing task, though it was unfortunate to find the records so lacking in detail, hence this record is open for correction or insertion, from official records, to be used in subsequent revised editions, until Schuylkill County can point to its soldier records with pride, in the fact that it is full and complete to the most exacting. In years to come, this record should be as valuable as the author hoped it to be, and every participant in that world struggle receive due homage for his or her part in the same.

It may be some will find their last honor in the rank and file has not been recorded, but making the correction at this time a permanent correct record will soon be created. The aid and advice of any one connected with the struggle is solicited in the building of this record.

Schuylkill Co. Soldiers On The Mexican Border

Before The World War--El Paso, Texas--1916

Eight months had passed since the soldier boys of Schuylkill County entrained for El Paso, Texas, where the government requested National Guards from various states to pass on to the borderline to protect the property and lives of residents who were driven to despair over revolutionary acts of Pancho Villa and a large force of Mexican insurrectionists, bent on embroiling the United States and Mexico in a passage of arms.

Mexico seemed helpless against the insurrectionists, lives were destroyed by fiendish acts, property demolished and a reign of terror existed among our people on the border.

Finally patience became exhausted, and the cry of "Go After Villa" resulted in the soldier boys being sent into Camp Stewart, El Paso, with another large contingent of soldiers and Truck Trains encamped at Columbus, New Mexico.

On one side of the Rio Grande the soldiers of the U. S. were located; on the other side, a Mexican army of poorly clad soldiers, patrolled the boundary line.

The soldier boys who served in the National Guard of Pennsylvania, were well equipped, well disciplined, built into a splendid organization.

Schuylkill County was represented by the following:

Co. "F", 4th Regt., Pottsville, the old Washington Artillerists, of Civil War fame as predecessors,

Co. "H", 8th Regiment, Pottsville, the old National Light Infantry of Civil War fame;

Co. "B", 8th Regiment, Tamaqua;

Co. "E", 8th Regiment, Mahanoy City;

Co. "G", 4th Regiment, Pinegrove.

Soldiers Return From Eight Months' Service

Pottsville was thrown into a high state of excitement on February 25, 1917, when their two military companies, Co. "C" Engineers, and Co. "H" 8th Regiment, arrived home from the Mexican border, where they served for the past eight months, sent there by the government to suppress insurgency which had overrun Mexico and landed in Columbus, New Mexico, doing damage and causing consternation among the inhabitants along the U. S.-Mexican border.

Capt. James Archbald, of Co. "C" Engineers, whose command was formerly Co. "F", 4th Regiment N. G. P., (Washington Artillerists), arrived in the city at 12:15 noon. A rousing welcome was accorded his company as they sprightly stepped along the street to the Armory on North Centre Street, a band of young men that were most efficiently drilled, and had displayed great ability in construction and engineering work at El Paso, Texas.

On the same day, Captain James E. Burr, of Co. "H" 8th Regiment, (National Light Infantry) also arrived home from the Mexican border, where they served for eight months, reaching the city at 9:30 p. m., and the second time that day a great welcome was extended to returning troops, thousands marching along to the Armory, the place of disbandment.

June 5, 1917, will thus become a day of transcendent importance. The registration then to be taken must be complete and accurate. To that end, I, Martin G. He was on a four-masted windjammer, and as he says, "getting into England, in company with others, an altercation took place in which I became embroiled, and it resulted in my going to prison. I was given the opportunity to go to prison, or go to the 'front', and I chose the 'front.'"

"It was not long before I was sent out into 'no man's land' to reconnoitre; nothing was too daring for me to do, and as a result I was promoted; at once my old comrades dropped me, for in the English Army an officer must not associate with a lower grade soldier. This brought me much sorrow, for I must have excitement, and to be slighted by my old time chums was more than I could stand, so I went back to the ranks, and was once again made welcome in every dugout."

After he was injured, he went to a hospital, and through the efforts of the American Ambassador, was sent back home.

July 20, went on duty with comrades; 3 p. m., a terrible barrage from the U. S. guns was started with the whole Allied Armies taking part; after a time when the Huns were driven away from their machine guns, our men went over the top, and soon the work of the ambulance started. All our cars (20), were working all night, in a terrible rain, and all day July 21st, when at 5 o'clock we had all the wounded off the field, we went back to our little farm house, packed our clothing, and went after our boys who had captured Hun territory. We had advanced eight miles, and saw the Huns retreating, with our boys right at their heels. Then, our boys dug in at 6 o'clock, when the Huns got their batteries working, we soon had serious work to do. It became dark; the roads were in horrible shape, and when we mired, the soldier boys helped us out."

"Our artillery took up positions for the morrow, and our guards and machine gunners took up their positions in the front of the infantry. There they ran into an ambush and Co. "A" of the Yankees' Division, were almost entirely wiped out, only 30 some escaped, the remainder being wiped out. We were commanded to go out in front of the artillery and if we were to have cold feet, it was to be then, not when we were on the way. There were left only two of us to get the wounded men; we ran into enemy outposts, but finally got to the men and brought them back."

"You came to the battlefield at a crucial hour for the Allied cause. For almost four years the most formidable army the world has yet seen had pressed its invasion of France and stood threatening its capital. At no time has that army been more powerful and menacing than when, on July 15, it struck again to destroy in one great battle the brave men opposed to it, and to enforce its brutal will upon the world and civilization.

"Three days later, and in conjunction with our Allies, you counter attacked. The Allied Armies gained a brilliant victory that marks the turning point of the war. You did more than to give the Allies the support to which, as a nation, our faith was pledged. You proved that our alturism, our pacific spirit and our sense of justice have not blunted our virility, or our courage.

"You have shown that American initiative and energy are as fit for the tasks of war as for the pursuits of peace. You have justly won unstinted praise from our Allies and the eternal gratitude of our countrymen.

"We have paid for our success with the lives of many of our brave comrades. We shall cherish their memory always and claim for our history and literature their bravery, achievement and sacrifice.

Supplies were sent in many ways which aided in making it at least a semblance of holiday season, one officers saying he and his command were furnished with a sum of money to go out and buy something extra for Christmas dinner.

They bought up all the supplies of fowl and game obtainable for many miles around. Fruits were very scarce, but some were procured, and a fairly tasty Christmas dinner was the result. It was not like home, however, though humble it may be, and longings were quite apparent on the faces of the soldier boys quartered in barracks and uncomfortable buildings with little sanitation.

The Cost To Humanity

At the close of the war, the United States government made the announcement that the number of enlisted soldiers from our country were as follows:

Combatants in all departments .....	3,764,700
Combatants on foreign fields .....	2,079,890
Loss of lives during war in death from disease or in action .....	58,478
Killed in action in France .....	26,154
Prisoners taken by U. S. Soldiers .....	44,000

---

Thus the record endeth,
With a teardrop on the page,
Leaving blur that cannot sever,
Fullest praise of heritage.

Nobly built has been the record,
Built upon a mighty plane,
With the words of duty, honor,
Blazoned in a heavenly frame.

Freedom for the downpressed nation
Freedom for the pure of earth,
Bought so dearly by their ardor,
On far fields not of their birth.

Hence the tears of loved ones mourning,
Shed for those who ne'er returned,
Far from home they paid the tollage,
Of a king, who, conquest yearned.

Part of the Debt Germany Paid

When Germany signed the Armistice she surrendered to her foes the following:

160 Submarines ;	30,000 Machine Guns
50 Destroyers ;	3,000 Flame Throwers ;
6 Battle Cruisers ;	2,000 Airplanes ;
10 Battleships ;	5,000 Locomotives ;
8 Light Cruisers ;	50,000 Wagons ;
5,000 Long Guns ;	10,000 Motor Trucks ;

And pay all damage done.

In this year of 1930, Germany protests to paying on the debt as agreed upon, and the topic is becoming more acute as each payment becomes due.

November 21—

Up to this time, the German Fleet had not surrendered to the Allies, but at 9:30 a. m., this date, a complete surrender was made.

LEARNING FROM THE FRENCH ARMY BEFORE OUR ARMY BECAME SEPARATE UNIT

The following is one of the original documents found on the battlefield after the ending of the war, showing how a report was made out during various movements of the front line entrenchments, when raids and counter-raids were in operation, but abandoned when the American soldiers were at the front. They believed in holding a trench when they captured it, and not permitting the enemy to take it back again. It is a most interesting report, giving the detail of gunnery, etc.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST CORPS SCHOOLS, A. E. F.

April 1, 1918.

From: Major G. A. Matile, N. A. 26th Infantry.

To: The Commandant First Army Corps Schools, U. S. Army.

Subject: Report on visit to the French Front.

1.—Pursuant to S. O. 184 Hdq. 1st Corps School, dated 15th March, 1918, I, in company with eleven other student officers, visited a sector of the French Front. Leaving this station at 9:25 a. m., arrived at Bar-la-Duc at 11 a. m.

We were met at the station by a French officer of the transportation service and were given our assignments to the different sectors. Captain Roy B. Clinton and Norris A. Miller, 161st Infantry and I were assigned to the 121st Infantry, 19th A. C. French Army.

We traveled by auto via Verdun to Belrupt Hdqrs., 17th Army Corps. Thence by auto to Cabant Hdqrs., 26th Division. The journey from Cabant to Normandie, P. C. of brigade was made partially by auto and partially on foot. Our road was being heavily shelled so that we were forced to abandon the auto; arrived at P. C. Simone Headquarters of the 121st Infantry at 6:30 p. m.

Tactical Dispositions, etc.

2.—Maps No. 225, (Douamont) and No. 201 (tinge due from the 13 Rec. 17), show plainly the sector occupied by the 121st Regiment. The southern boundary is the Ravine des Buzil, and the northern boundary is the Ravine des Prilsud. Map 225 shows the trench stones of defense and Map No. 201 shows the German positions and the three regimental S. & O. sectors. Des Rousses 92d Infantry at Hardoumont, 121st Regiment, deVaux, which constitute the sector of the 26th Brigade.

The composition of a French Brigade is well known and need not be described in detail here. Suffice to say the 26th Division is composed of three regiments of Infantry, two companies of Engineers, Supply and Sanitary detachments and Divisional Artillery.

The Brigade commander is a General, and his post of command is centrally located behind the three regiments over which he has direct command. Map 201 (P. C. Normandie.)

Disposition of troops within regimental sector was as follows: (See as per Map 225—shaded areas represent companies, areas included white areas, platoons.) First Battalion on the left, two companies on the front line, one company regimental reserve. Each of the companies in the front line have two platoons in the first line trench, and two platoons in the second line or support trenches. Second Battalion on right, one company in the front line, two and a half companies battalion reserve, one company as brigade reserve. Third Battalion was at Verdun as Divisional reserve, out-post or line of observation in front of first line trench.

Attack, dispositions for:

From the east, the outpost gives the alert to the platoon on the first line and retire after having given time for platoons on line to make disposition for the attack. The platoons in the first line resist on that line to prevent enemy from gaining a footing therein. The platoons in support take their positions for fighting with the mission to prevent access to the enemy and counter attack immediately in a part of the front line trench that has been taken.

From the south:

As soon as the alert has been given, two sections with the captain, take position in trench Lunebourg with mission to harass the enemy and to counter attack to recover that portion of the front line captured by the enemy.

R. Des Ravines:

Two platoons will take possession in the Charlotte and Hugnet trench to support either first or second company.

Attack from the North:

If the enemy has taken out de Bezomiaux, the left platoon on support First Co., will occupy and defend tyrol trench. The right platoon on support will occupy 4821. Mission for two above platoons to get in liason with regiment on left and to assist in counter attack to take trench de tounte. Reserve company occupies est St. Demis, Hornedu S'Euphrate and Pigiendar.

General Attack:

Case of an attack by north and east same dispositions as above.

Machine Guns:

One platoon at Barthman to take position in the lunebourg south with mission to stop enemy's advance from S. East slope.

Raids From Ravine De Plume:

Platoon in support to our D'Hardaumont will counter attack immediately by St. Euphrate. From Ravine du Muguet platoon in support to counter attack immediately.

Observations:

The measures to be taken against raids really consisted on the removal of all troops of the first line to the support trenches immediately the enemy's barrage fell and then to dislodge the enemy by counter attack. It is not contemplated holding the first line trench and sole reliance seemed to be placed on the counter attack. At the moment the barrage moves forward, troops are rushed if possible, to the front line trench, great dependence is placed upon the use of rifle and hand grenades, automatic rifles and machine guns.

From Map 201 it will be seen that one the sectors de vaux and Hardomont the trench positions are on high ground whilst the German lines are lower and consist of series of strong points which are amply protected by entanglements. The French do not fear an attack from the east and until the past week discounted the probability of an offensive movement on a large scale, inasmuch as amateur photography showed that positions were being prepared for defense. The German and French lines converge toward the Bois de Gaurriers and on the eastern half of the sector des Rousses are but 50 yards apart. Here the Germans equally occupy commanding positions and from this point northwise intensive fighting has taken place during the past week. Division of battalion and regimental puts sectors as can be seen from this point, maps were afforded naturally from the topography. Ravines and hills being utilized to their greatest advantage. Batters were generally from three to four kilometers in rear of the first line, and the old works formerly occupied by the Germans are utilized, especially Ours de Bezhoaux which is a strong point of great importance in the sub section des Rousses.

Frontage:

The actual frontage of this regiment when there is advantage of one to two kilometers between the French and German lines, is approximately one and a half kilometers.

Depth:

Great importance is attached to strength in depth, although there seemed insufficient men to properly man the trenches either laterally or in depth.

Its attack, consisting of 500 picked men, was launched after ten minutes preparation.

155's and minenwerfers were mostly used. The attacking fire was divided into three parties, two came around the flanks and the third attacked the front, the trench counter attack with one company. The Barrage, extremely intense, lasted for one hour. It was believed a general attack had been launched and the alert for an attack was ordered from the regimental P. C.

The raid was entirely successful from the enemy's standpoint as the entire battalion staff and the battalion commander were captured. The battalion was practically annihilated, though the details were not obtainable. Had the Germans desired to obtain a footing in this sector they might readily have accomplished this mission. It can be readily seen that the Fonddes Rousses practically prevents support from reaching the raided area.

Prior to this raid and for two days following, the entire regimental sector was violently bombarded, both heavy shells and gas. Observations made from visits to the front line trenches O. P's. One man observation at all times. These men are at each post and dugouts available in case of bombardment. One post was concealed and protected by a galvanized iron, and camouflaged.

The other was an iron box artillery type.

The regimental intelligence officers visit these posts each day, inspect equipment, personnel, etc., he receives reports in writing from the commander of every post from which he makes a consolidated report.

Trenches and Shelter Proofs:

There was no rivetting in the trenches and very little repair work was done. This is due to the fact, I was told, that the trenches are so constantly shelled that doing anything more would be impracticable.

Shelter proofs in the front line and support trenches were constructed of both thimers and galvanized iron, dugouts were in the third line trenches and were not numerous. They were strongly constructed and sufficient to accommodate the defenders. Great dependence was placed upon the use of hand and rifle grenades and practically all the fire are placed rests for grenade rifles. Hand grenades of the old type are evidently favored.

CHANGE FOUND NECESSARY

will be found on Page 275 and following pages.

Learning From The American Army—Continued from Page 272

Drainage slits are cut into the front of the first line trenches for purpose of drainage, no flooring exists. Trenches in general are traced along the contours. Trenches for communication are often in plain view of the enemy, and though deep are poorly concealed by comouflage.

The effect of the previous night's gas bombardment was very noticeable in the trenches, evidently no mechanical means were utilized to clear the trenches. The gas which remained had a slight odor of garlic, although practically unnoticeable, except in large quantities.

Effects:

I had occasion to interview several men who had been gassed the night before and the effects seemed generally to be as follows: No odor noticeable at first, but slight irritation of the eyes, then in around a half hour, nausea and vomiting, the eyes became red and swollen, the lids had the appearance of infection; not until 24 hours did pains in the chest become noticeable, in some cases blisters broke out on face and neck, unprotected by mask.

It is my opinion, based upon observation and remarks from French soldiers their present mask can be improved upon. The gas shells sent over by the Germans were preceded by heavy bombardment which forced them into their dugouts and there the light explosions of the toxic shells could not be noticed. There were as many as 50 casualties, I was told in one reserve company during two hours gas bombardment. A large percentage of these were among working parties.

Sniping:

There was no sniping as far as could be determined—three conclusions: The positions held by the regiment in which I was attached are held probably for defense only and because of the few men which defend such a comparatively large width. General German offensive is not feared. That the French depend solely on counter attack to drive the Germans out from positions captured and that they do not contemplate holding the first line trench against raids. That the present mask is not entirely adequate against German gas; a new mask, I was told, will be furnished both men and officers. The French commander and his staff afforded us every kindness and facilitated my studying their plans for the protection of their sector.

Machine Guns:

The three machine gun companies of this regiment had been grouped for defense on the regimental sector, generally in support of reserve trenches. All machine guns were commanded by a regimental machine gun officer. Positions of these guns were shown on map. The functions of the groups were as follows:

Group M 7—(2 guns) Mission, left gun to fire apar Ravin du pre, right gun hanging fire to north. Replacements fired, both direct fire only, not to fire except in case of aattack.

Group M 6—(3 guns) No. 1 fire direction of volley. No. 2 flanking fire. No. 3 to southeast.

Group M 8—(4 guns) Indirect fire upon several German assembly trenches and on Bezonvaux.

Group M 5—(2 guns) No. 1 fires on Ravine de to Plume, 2, flanking fire.

Notes:

Machine gun barrage frequently asked for. French place much confidence in machine gun evacuation. Each machine gun was protected by hand and rifle grenades. Machine guns were placed on dugouts throughout the day. Most of the positions were on fore steps and amply camouflaged.

Patrolling:

Although permission was requested to be allowed to accompany patrols the regimental commander did not favor it. Each company every night sends one patrol of company of three or four men to German lines for an examination of their wire. Notice is sent to adjoining companies of these at points of departure and return of these patrols. Patrols are sent out only by companies in front line.

Observation Patrols:

2 O. P. S. M. O. T. & S. R. S. Artillery, 1 O-P (Sound) Artillery, 1 O. P. P. C. of regiment for rocket signalling only. 2 O. P. Berri & Cecile regimental direct communication Artillery & P. C. of regiment, Map 225, also Exhibits "C." Chart of Lissen. The two observation posts will be described in a later paragraph.

Liaison:

The methods of Liaison were as follows: 1, telephoning; 2, ground telegraphy; 3, serial; 4, runners; 5, pigeons; 6, visual; 7, wireless.

Exhibit "C" shows exactly the telephone system from the Brigade P. C. forward. Also Visual system. Pigeons are kept at regimental and battalion P. C. The T. P. S. was used extensively. Projectors alarm cms were used between brigade and division and regimental on brigade.

Regimental and Staff Officers:

One captain in charge of administration work corresponding to our regimental adjutant. One lieutenant in charge of Liaison service, one lieutenant in charge of the intelligence service, post of observations, serial photographs, etc.

Raids:

On the night of March 20-21, the Germans made a raid on a battalion of the regiment on our left. A destructive fire was placed upon the first and second line of trenches, and extending two kilometers deep, it was said.

AT PEACE IN THE VALLEY

Now I rest on the brow of a valley,
Over which an inferno had passed,
Where God's own in a fury of passion,
Wrought vengeance 'till world stood aghast.

Far out I glance over the valley,
I see where the fierce conflict raged,
And decided ambition's own passion.
The mightiest battles had waged.

There the minions of militant power.
Sent forth to destroy and defile,
Trampled down with the heel of oppression,
Spreading sorrow each mile upon mile.

Back and forth I can see in the valley
Where carnage and madness ran rife,
Where the victor and vanquished trod roughly
Over humans, that fell in the strife.

But the God of all power and dominion,
Staid the heel of oppression and might,
And brought to the aid of the stricken
Fair youth who gave strength to the fight.

'Twas a flag of red, blue and white bunting
Floating over our nation's elect,
And the boys 'neath Old Glory, God bless them,
Gave cause to be titled select.

Still I see from the brow of the valley,
Where the maimed, the blind, and the gassed,
Sadly roam in my mind's secret chamber.
Since that day, though a decade has passed.

Yes, I rest on the brow of the valley,
With war's lust and deep grime washed away,
Where the birds sing, the flowers in their blooming
Keep vigil o'er those 'neath the clay.

May eternal peace reign in the valley,
May no nation its saber unsheath,
May the God of all mercy protect us
And to vanquished a pardon bequeath.

So I rest on the brow of the valley,
And await the last roll call on high,
Though it be soon or late I shall hunger,
For comrades, who gave all to die.

ORGANIZATION WORK

Being unable to persuade my co-worker, Lieutenant Colonel Joseph Henry Zerbey, Jr. to tell what he knew of the organization work necessary in this country during the gigantic struggle, I am taking the liberty of stating what I know about his services to the country during the World War.

His questionnaire was filled out in a similar manner to thousands of others. These questionnaires compelled the subject to state what his activities had been prior to his entrance into the ranks. Zerbey, Jr., seemed peculiarly fitted to do organization work, he had done it ever since he entered the newspaper profession, and when he went before the authorities at the National Capital he was assigned to duty in the Personnel Branch, Supply Division, Ordnance Department as a first lieutenant. His regret at having been refused entrance to the Officers Training Camp was somewhat assuaged by the duties he was given, and he was soon plunged beyond his depth, and when he came up for a breathing spell, demanded that he be given duties "Over There."

"Yes, yes," was the response, but deeper and deeper he became involved in the work of organization and training, and the promise of going across was always held out as a bait to further achievements.

This continued up to the early fall of 1918, and happy was he at the thought that he was at last to be rewarded. He was going across. All preparations were made, every detail was completed, but the Armistice was signed, the duffle bag was disgustingly thrown aside and he was deprived of his greatest ambition, like thousands of others, that of being with the boys abroad. He completed his service in July, 1919, having been promoted to captain, and being discharged as a Major in the Reserve Corps.

So successful had been his efforts at that time that he was later interested in Citizens Military Training Camp work from which he progressed to the point where he was again called before the authorities in Washington, D. C., and given organization work to do that occupied him the entire summer and fall of 1930, and once again he received praise from those who came in contact with his work as a member of the War Department General Staff.

I know he will chide me vigorously when he learns of this page in "Schuylkill County in the World War," but I am ready to pay the penalty because I know the public would have been far more appreciative if a brief statement of his knowledge of building up an army organization had been placed within these pages, for the first duty of organization is to build up an army before hostilities begin, and some one capable of doing this work must be deprived of other honors, or possibly more selective work upon the field of battle.

HOSPITAL WORK UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Dr. James B. Heller enlisted in the World War and was commissioned Sept. 27, 1917 as lieutenant. He was assigned Jan. 1, 1918, to University of Penna., under instruction of Gwylym Davis for two months. Then ordered to Camp Greenleaf for intensive training in military affairs.

June 1 he was given charge of Orthopedic Surgery; on June 20 assigned to Base Hospital 25, at Chillicothe, O.

On July 2d, 1918 he left for Camp Merritt where he embarked for Liverpool, Eng.; next to Southampton where he embarked for France, and was assigned to duty at Allery, in the South of France, where the wounded Americans were being brought in from the drive to Metz.

When he arrived there, a field was given them in which to erect tents, then followed erection of board buildings, with a great lack of sanitation, and the water chlorinated to the point of unpalatability.

Day and night the victims of the great offensive were being brought in, when one day, Sergt. John T. Duffy, of Pottsville, of the 103d Engineers was brought into the hospital, having been badly gassed. The doctor felt a keen interest in a home town boy, and if ever his sympathies were aroused, it was right there, for he said, the horrible gas used in many cases had caused gas gangrene, a terrible thing that required amputation of the limb affected, and this was the line of work upon which he was engaged. He breathed a sigh of relief when Sergt. Duffy responded to the treatment administered to good effect.

Then came another boy from his home section, Herbert W. Davis, Saint Clair, who was a member of Co. "A" 127th Amb. Corps, of the Evacuation Hospital. The doctor was likewise pleased to see this young man rapidly improve.

Dr. Heller was next sent to Langres (pronounced Launge) where the Mayor, appreciating the work done by the American surgeons, gave them a certificate entitling them to use the City's Coat of Arms as their family crest.

On Thanksgiving Day, a special invitation was extended the doctor to take dinner in the private home of an aged father and mother who had lost four sons in the conflict. They had lost all their possessions, and were therefore very poor, but the hospitality displayed was such as to leave a lasting impression upon the guests.

There is one thing the doctor is thankful for, and that is the fact that the finest X-Ray equipment and all utensils furnished by the U. S. for the hospital was of the most modern and approved type, and was remarkable for efficient work done under the terrible unsanitary conditions prevailing.

Bacillus entered the limbs of gassed victims which oftentimes resulted in gangrene setting in, making amputation of the affected part immediate.

In the midst of the most harassing conditions, he was called upon one night to go to a hut and there bring into the war torn world, a babe. He returned to headquarters and reported the safe arrival of the infant.

High Praise For 28th Division From The Chief Of Staff

The official order issued by the Commanding General of the Second Army, of the American Expeditionary Forces is of so great importance to the soldiers from Schuylkill County, that we have reproduced it as nearly as it is possible, typographically, to do so, as to capitalization, punctuation, and spacing, with the hope that its importance will be realized.

Proud, indeed, must be the boys who served under this banner, and to know that in the short time they were at the battle front, they paid the penalty of Prussianism by suffering to the extent of being fourth on the list in casualties, while other commands had been on the battle front, a greater length of time, which clearly denotes, these soldier boys of ours, youthful and untried though they were in a conflict of such gigantic proportions, gave an account of themselves in a manner that will live forever. Here is the official order:

(Exact Reproduction)

HEADQUARTERS 28TH DIVISION

American Expeditionary Forces.

France, April 5, 1919.

GENERAL ORDERS )
No. 11 )

1. The following communication from the Commanding General, Second Army, American Expeditionary Forces, is published for the information of all concerned:

“HEADQUARTERS SECOND ARMY

American Expeditionary Forces

Office of Commanding General

Toul, France, 2 April, 1919.

FROM: Commanding General, Second Army.
TO: Commanding General, 28th Division.
SUBJECT: Operations of 28th Division.

1. Upon the departure of the 28th Division from the Second Army for return to the United States I desire to express my sincere appreciation of the work of this Division while under my command. This Division has served in all of the larger Major Operations of the final year of this war, such as

CHAMPAGNE-MARNE Defensive	(15 July—18 July)
AISNE-MARNE Offensive	(23 July—31 July)
FISMES Sector	(7 August—17 August)
OISE-AISNE	(18 August—8 September)
MEUSE-ARGONNE	(26 September—9 October)
THIAUCORT Sector	(16 October—11 November)

2. On July 15 this Division assisted in stopping the great German drive south of the MARNE and in the AISNE-MARNE Offensive, operating under French and American Corps, pushed forward to the VESLE River, where at FISMES it held a sector for more than a month of continuous fighting. During this time the 28th Division was operating under my command in the 111 Corps and under my direction this Division established and held two Bridgeheads across the VESLE River. During this continuous fighting at the VESLE and the subsequent advance towards the AISNE this Division bore the brunt of the fighting for it was in front of this Division that the enemy was making his strongest resistance. After being relieved from the VESLE on September 8 this Division moved into the ARGONNE Forest and with only a few days' rest went into the great MEUSE-ARGONNE battle which resulted in the signing of the Armistice. The work of this Division in this offensive is too well known for me to recount at length, but such names as VARENNES, ARGONNE Forest, APREMONT, CHATEL CHEHERY and MONTBLAINVILLE are written in history after the name of the 28th Division. After serving in this great offensive for thirteen days, this Division was relieved and sent to the then quiet THIAUCOURT Sector for rest, but, although the Division was tired and worn out, its indomitable spirit arose and the THIAUCORT Sector was changed from a quiet sector into an active one.

3. During the many operations in which this Division was engaged, many prisoners, both officers and men, and much material were captured. From the signing of the Armistice, during a period of trying waiting, the 28th Division's interest has not flagged; its appearance, condition, and state of military preparedness has steadily improved and upon them the Commander-in-Chief has congratulated the Division. The fighting spirit of the 28th Division is shown by its casualty lists which is fourth among the Divisions of the American Expeditionary Forces. This Division has always been a combat division in every sense of the word and in my belief should be classed as an A-1 Shock Division. I desire to extend my most sincere congratulations to the officers and men of this Division, which has in its operations exemplified the fighting spirit of the American troops. I again extend to you all my most sincere congratulations and best wishes.

(Signed) R. L. BULLARD,
Lieutenant General, U. S. A."

This order will be read to all organizations at the first assembly formation after its receipt.

By order of Major General HAY:

DAVID J. DAVIS
Colonel—General Staff.
Chief of Staff.

Official

RICHARD W. WATSON
Lt. Col.—Adjutant.

TWO COMRADES FACE DOWN IN THE DEW

---

The hour was set, the time all too soon
Would arrive, to end the suspense,
Might I, courage lack, my limbs now fail,
To demands that are so intense?

No trench, it is true, could long hold those boys,
To flounder in slough and despair,
Would they rush out then, in impetuous flight,
And expend their strength 'yond repair?

Ten minutes more, and the fates befall,
We pace up and down, and wait,
'Till the "forward" cry, when we do or die,
For the cause we espouse soon too late.

I pulled out a fag, I struck a match,
Four puffs, and my lips fired anew,
I spat out the stub, rushed forth at the cry,
That two comrades lie face in the dew.

One three had gone down, two four filled the gap,
Like a demon I rushed to the fray,
My gun all ablaze in the morning haze,
And my comrades last farewell to say.

Chateau-Thierry, the Aisne or Argonne,
Aye, even to Belleau Wood,
We were there in the fight, all day or night,
Oft times, without even food.

Those comrades of mine, Oh, God, must they be Deprived of their splendor and might!
I cried as I rush, thro the shot torn brush,
With the enemy clearing from sight.

My objective was reached, but my zeal failed to cease
As onward I shattered and tore,
My grenades were flung, at the fast fleeing Hun,
Yet my spirit I failed to restore.

My brain was awlirl, my heart was steeled,
To the Kamerad plea of the Hun
For my pals, good old pals, now face in the dew
Must be left to the pitiless sun.

Through a daze I rushed, till the battle lines
Had no just cause to renew,
And my brain cleared up as I knelt at the shrine
Of two comrades face down in the dew.

THE START OF THE WAR

Many in this decade, fail to realize what caused the Great World War. It is now past history, but to bring it permanently before the eye of the public, we give an abbreviated account of the starting of the conflagration. The discussion of the Balkan States was at its height, when, on June 28, 1914, Cavrio Prinzip, assassinated Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austria-Hungary throne, and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenburg, the assassin firing the first bullet missed his mark and the Duchess was shot in the abdomen. With another bullet, the Archduke was hit in the neck, both dying shortly after the assault at Bosnia, in Austria. Russia had been protecting these little countries of the Balkan, and Austria made a declaration of war against Serbia on July 28, 1914, when Russia, France, Belgium and England finally became involved, with Germany taking sides with Austria.

The assassin was tried and imprisoned for a term of 20 years, dying on May 1, 1918 in prison of tuberculosis, therefore not living to see the final result of his act.

The following figures show what an appalling cost the act of this assassin piled upon humanity in lives, the figures being as nearly accurate as it was possible to obtain.

THE GREAT LIBERTY LOAN CAMPAIGNS IN THE COUNTY

When the government announced the Liberty Loan Campaigns, Lesley Sheaffer, of Pottsville, was selected as the chairman of Schuylkill County, and having had considerable experience in banking, proved to be a deciding factor in the success of the First Liberty Loan.

The Campaign was something new for our people. It required education of a peculiar nature. To ask a workingman to loan the government a portion of his weekly wage, required great finesse, so it was necessary to have a publicity man well fitted for the task. The selection of O. L. Underwood, of Pottsville, proved to be an excellent solution of the matter, and soon he plunged head-foremost into the publicity end, called upon banks, and coal companies, steel mills, railroad shops, mills of every description, merchants, etc., to come forward and use advertising space in the newspapers to spread the gospel of Liberty Loans, to aid the papers in their efforts at education.

At first the task was an arduous one, the First Liberty Loan was a terrible uphill task, but was over subscribed in the end. Then came the announcement that County Chairman Sheaffer was called to Washington, D. C., to assist in financial matters for the government, when Robert Braun was selected in his place. Mr. Braun had the full confidence of the workers throughout the county, and he also proved quite successful in his efforts to put the various loans "over the top," and in this the County was successful, as was also Pottsville, where the subscription always amounted to more than the quota.

Mr. Braun not only quitted himself brilliantly as a county chairman in the Second Liberty Loan Drive, but had accepted the task of County Director of Singing, which proved to be one of the most pleasing tasks of war work, for everywhere special meetings were held, one of the best drawing cards was the community singing. Mr. Braun assembled 100 singers who were depended upon to come forward and make the event a most delightful one, the choir rendering patriotic music that captured the audience at every event of this nature. Mr. Braun's connection with the Braun School of Music, Pottsville, gave him a tremendous advantage, as he was possible to call on his faculty to aid in events though several occurred at one and the same night. This musical portion of each program was a distinct feature, and at many gatherings there were thousands of voices raised in due homage to those who were at the front, bearing the brunt of battle where age and disability prevented others from participating.

How Mr. Braun succeeded in bringing forth all the energy necessary for this strenuous work was oft commented upon, not being the most robust in our midst, but his activities continued up to the end of the war work with unbounded success.

Daniel W. Kaercher, Esq., was next selected as County Chairman of the Liberty Loan Drives, and having close affiliations with the great coal corporations, likewise made a successful campaign each time the same came up. All the Loans under his guidance were well over-subscribed.

There were five Liberty Loan Campaigns, and Schuylkill County did her "bit" more efficiently than many sections of the country with far greater population, and the success of each one was due to the excellent men back of them in our county.

The War Savings Campaign was another difficult campaign to wage, but Wm. E. Quinlan, of Pottsville, chairman, with a committee of weight, brought the campaign to a successful termination.

So it was with the Salvation Army Drives in the County. Robert Braun was at one time County Chairman. There was a united effort to raise funds to help carry on the work back of the trenches, where this organization was doing its most effective work, and Schuylkill County gave liberally to the fund.

The Y. M. C. A. Drive came in for a goodly share of aid from our county when the drive was made for funds. A most comfortable amount was realized for the carrying on of this work, which meant the proper distribution of cigarettes, chocolate bars, and little delicacies that brought cheer to the boys at the "Front."

Likewise the K. of C., having efficiently organized in the war zone, came before the county for financial assistance, and they were greatly encouraged by the reception of a good sized fund for their use, which was most effectively distributed during their service here and abroad.

There were various other Drives that helped the cause, many of the workers giving of their time and energy without a moment's hesitation, working long after the hours of rest, to do some good for our cause in the Great World War. Their names may never become public, but they have the realization that they did what they could when it was most needed.

It seems almost impossible that these small communities could come forward with a sum sufficient to meet the quotas set for them, but surprisingly large sums were the returns from each one, even to the smallest village. Each one showed its patriotism by digging deep into the coffers of each household, and coming up with the sum allotted to them to be purchased. Schuylkill County is on a high plane of patriotism when it comes to supplying men or means for support of a cause as worthy as was the Great World War.

Every organization in the city, as well as every town and village in the county did its full share to aid in any patriotic movement, especially was this the case of the Pottsville Band, under Charles P. Hoffman, leader, and the Centennial Drum Corps, under Sergt. George DeWald, leader. They always responded in a superb manner, as did the Italian Band of this city.

Fraternal organizations did everything in their power to aid families and members in distress during these trying times.

Cemeteries were freely opened to those who lost their life in the great struggle, allotted plots were laid out for the reception of those whose remains might be brought home, and thus the soldiers of the World War were accorded a resting place in the various cemeteries, whether means were provided for the interment, or not.

BEEFSTEAK AND ONIONS TODAY

Corporal Dunn and his squad marched off that day
For the makin's of noonday chow,
And the Corp got a thinkin' of days gone by
Where the eats, he declared, "were a 'wow'."

Two by two they plod on, the Corp at their side,
Each, a poncho, or two of 'em,
That would hold quite some 'truck', if the squad had good luck,
At the place they all dubbed "Q. M."

They found the fat Greek in charge that day,
The same that was chef in Noo Yawk,
So they briskly stepped up and demanded their beef,
In the Army's most forceful talk.

"Cap McGee and his compliments, sir," said Corp,
"And he sent for his quarter of beef,"
But the Greek in his stoic demeanor, replied,
"Biffsroasts or biffsteaks I no geef."

"What," cried the Corp in his statliest pride,
"You mean to turn down the big wheeze,"
And out from his blouse he drew forth a note,
With, "read that sir, now, if you please."

Now fat Private Greek with his finest deceit,
Hid the fact that he knew no English,
But he glanced at the seal, which to him seemed quite real,
And hoped he'd not lose his commish.

But Corporal Dunn had planned for all that,
When preparing the seal for "Q. M."
As his note was much like the Captain oft sent,
With the Regiment's blue emblem.

So the Greek placed his hand at respectful salute,
"There's yer biffs roast or steak," said he,
And proudly the Corp with a heel click retort,
Gave salute quite snappily.

"Get cleaver and knife," shouted Corporal Dunn,
You men of old Company "D",
And we'll chop up this hunk to a sizeable chunk,
That will ease up the load," said he.

They filled up their sacks, and loaded their backs,
With the beef held for Captain McGee,
And onward they puffed, as they wended the bluff,
And joined in the gen'ral melee.

That mess was the best old "D" ever ate,
And they shouted and yelled with glee,
But Corporal Dunn and his squad of four men,
Became silent as mutes could be.

They piled up the onions, high banked on the steak,
With spuds that were mealy and brown,
And said they had never in this man's war,
Been favored with such renown.

But just as they topped off their onions and steak,
Corporal Dunn glanced over the bluff,
And beheld Cap McGee and his Aid, fair to see,
That gave evidence of much sterner stuff.

"Sergeant Mill," said the Cap, "we're looking for men,
Who purloined a full quarter of beef,
And when they are caught, they'll never depart
From the terrain that knows no relief."

Oh, Lord, for a minniewerfer, hot, right now,
Was the prayer from Corporal Dunn,
And wise in his ways he called out the names
Of his squad, to get on the run.

"Quick orders afront," he called to the squad,
"Fall in, and off, and away,"
And they cursed him in silence and hoped he'd get banged,
Before they'd have time to obey.

Just then came a Heinie, full labelled for "D",
And down on their faces they fell,
But Captain McGee and his Aid failed to see,
What a sample from Heinie could tell.

The Captain and Aid were untried in the ways,
Of a Heinie sent out for display,
So when Company "D", arose from the knee,
They found them in frenzied dismay.

They carted them off to a shell shock zone,
Where the uninjured rest and hum,
And Company "D" finished onions and steak,
With a kind thought for Corporal Dunn.

NOTICE

As stated elsewhere in this Volume, the records of our soldier were such as to make it impossible at times to procure the highest rating to which the soldier was entitled.

This may be remedied by sending to the Author, a correct rating of any individual, command, regiment, or other command, so that in a revised edition, a record will be formed that will be correct for all time.

Your aid and encouragement in this matter will be greatly appreciated.

Have your record correct for future generations. It will cost you nothing, but your family will be proud of it.

In closing the record of the soldiers of Schuylkill County, it is pleasing to note the courtesies extended to the author. At Harrisburg, nothing was too much trouble for those who had the custody of the soldier records, in fact, when searching for some almost impossible record, the employees of the office took great pains to assist. Many thanks are due them for courtesies rendered.

Then again, the records of the Patriotic League of Schuylkill County were available at all times. These records were contained in many volumes kept by the Patriotic League.

If the soldiers had responded to the request of this organization to complete their records upon their return home from war, it would have been a most notable achievement, as it was, the soldier boys were so anxious to get back home, that they forgot all else.

It is the hope of the author that this record will give them aid in every manner which demands their record as full as it is possible to build.
